Edutainment centre Orange Wheels has opened in Al Raha Mall.

Situated on the second floor of this popular Abu Dhabi Mall, the spacious, colourful playground means kids in the capital have another Orange Wheels to enjoy (the first is in Al Wahda Mall).

Little adventurers between the ages of six months to eight years have free rein to run, jump and explore the mega soft play destination where they can burn off energy in a safe environment.

Billed as a learning destination, they will be garnering new skills, without even realising.

Little princes and princesses can book themselves in for a quick trim - or something more drastic if they are feeling daring - in the on-site hair salon, or get that all-important Abu Dhabi mani-pedi in the spa where a rainbow of nail varnish colours are at their fingertips. Pampered expat kids, much?

And for mums and dads who fancy indulging in a spot of retail therapy the 'drop n shop' option (priced at Dh80 per hour) is a win for the whole family. Or parents who want to keep an eye on their mini mes can stick around and kick back in the café where the great coffee tastes even better before 3pm because it's free.

A range of party packages are available to make every little birthday boy or girl's big day go off with a bang and a variety of fun-filled camps keep little ones out of mischief during the school holidays.

Plus, plenty of regular offers such as kids eat free, Wednesday super saver deals and Tuesday Play Date discounts mean regular visits won't break the bank.

Their future is bright, their future is Orange Wheels.

Dhs65 (first hour), Dhs40 (additional hours), Dhs200 (day pass), Dhs999 (monthly pass). 10am-9pm Sun-Wed, 10am-11pm Thu-Fri, 10am-10pm Sat. Second floor, Al Raha Mall, Abu Dhabi, www.orangewheels.com (02 556 2229).
